EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

ABOUT ME

With 20 years Relational Sales and Brand Marketing, I utilize my experience along with John C. Maxwell's curriculum surrounding the following topics –

- Team Building
- Enhancing Leadership Skills
- Connecting vs. Communicating
- Breaking Barriers and Exceeding Goals
- Determining your “WHY”

Though there are certainly crossover curricula and content, each of the above facilitated topics will lend itself to your current company and/or personal interests. Choose the area of interest and we will provide you with a few questions to answer prior to your event. This will allow us to appropriately address your needs as well as exceed your expectations.

OBJECTIVES

We expect participants who are open to learning and engaging in dialogue will walk out better resourced in the following areas depending on the topic chosen.

- Understanding the importance of “individual” and “team” contributions
- A heightened sense of awareness regarding leadership of self/others
- Importance of connecting with others through various communication styles
- Human Potential requires looking at what's possible vs. what is
- How benefit of doubt can make or break your cultural environment
